Hello March, we are finally getting closer to Spring time! I can't believe how fast February flew by this year. We sadly said goodbye to Ms. Kati as she went on her way down a new path. We loved being able to shower her with love before leaving this month. We unfortunately were not able to enjoy the outdoors as much as we would have appreciated this month. But, we were able to learn and work on skills while we had the extra gym time in the morning. Over the last month, we have been able to learn more about love both as our theme of the month and as our virtue. We have learned about what love is, how it is shown, and things that we can do in our daily lives to show love for others. We had fun with our special Valentine's Day party and appreciated all the support from the families!

Over the next month, we will be focusing our theme around literacy. We will be taking a deep dive into Dr. Seuss week (rhyming), fairytales, Eric Carle (author), Nursery Rhymes. We will also be having our St. Patrick's day week mixed in during the month. We will be celebrating with a St. Patrick's day party on Friday, March 17th. We will be reading different books and nursery rhymes that go along with our themes each week. On top of learning more about literacy, we will also be focusing on our virtue: honesty. We will be talking about honesty and learning more through books, discussions, and role play. This month we will send home a reading challenge sheet for each of your children to color in each time you read a book together. This is a fun way to encourage reading books at home for children. Reading to children at an early age can help with cognitive development, improving language skills, preparation for kindergarten, increasing concentration and discipline, improving imagination and creativity, and helping to develop a love for reading, all while building a bond with your child!

We would love to give a warm welcome to Gianna who has just moved up from the Toddler room! This month we will be celebrating Larissa, Emerald, Jordy and Jonah's birthday's in the preschool classroom! As a reminder, for birthday treat's we ask that all treats are store bought, peanut & nut free, and if you're doing cupcakes please buy the mini cupcakes to help out with the amount of sugar consumption! Every week blankets and nap belonging's need to be brought home to be getting washed over the weekend. As always, if you have any questions or concerns email preschool@bloomearlylearning.org!

Happy March! We love having you in our class!
