

Infants

We had such a great time in the month of October. The infants really enjoyed learning about all things fall. We enjoyed learning about apples and painting with them. The best part of our apple theme is making applesauce and getting to eat it at snack. When it came to our pumpkin theme, the infants weren't too sure about the insides of the unit, but they enjoyed listening to the fizzing sound when mixing baking soda and vinegar together. We wrapped up our unit with making our own cornucopias.

Amongst all the fun learning about fall, we also had a lot of transitions in and out of our classroom. We welcomed Ms. Jennifer back from maternity leave and welcomed her little one McKenna to the classroom. Our friend Nora moved up to toddlers and we wish her the best as she continues in the next room. Lastly, it was bittersweet to have to say goodbye to Ms. Marty as she has moved onto a better opportunity.

Moving forward, we are going to be exploring various food and flavors during the month of November using our five senses. Each week, we are going to explore a different flavor. We will explore different flavors from sweet and sour to tangy. Each week will have a different taste test that represent the flavor for that week. For example, if the week is sour, we may try lemons and watch as they make a face. In addition, we will be doing various activities where we will use food as art and even sensory. Please watch tadpoles for updates on the different activities.

This month we would like to welcome Ms. Amy to our classroom. We are so excited to have her as part of the infant team. We would like to wish our friend Charlie a very Happy 1st birthday.

We would like to wish our friend Logan the best as she transitions to the toddler room.

Love, Mrs. Elizabeth and Ms. Jenny
