

Toddlers

Happy November! How exciting is it to finally be in the fall season. The toddlers are having a blast seeing all of the colorful leaves that have been falling from the trees and enjoying all of the fun new fall art projects. Toddlers also enjoyed our music unit with all of the fun drums, maracas, bells and egg shakers. We learned new songs and made lots of noise playing along!

This month we are diving into our new theme “All About Me”. Toddlers will get to do fun new activities focusing on themselves and learning about their friends! Toddlers will get to decorate a “Me” poster showing all of their favorite things along with fun pictures or drawings. Toddlers will also get to read new books focusing on self-positivity and being one of a kind to themselves.

To go along with November's theme toddlers will be working on their social emotional skills. This includes; sharing with friends, checking on friends, taking turns, and learning about emotions. This month's theme with these life skills combined is a great way to help the toddlers really focus on them! We are very excited to continue cooking activities with the toddlers! Toddlers love being able to help create something yummy to enjoy. It is also a great way to introduce new skills and new foods.

Important Notes:

- We will be closed on Thanksgiving and Black Friday!!!
- With it starting to get even colder out please make sure to have coats, hats, gloves and soon snow gear available for the toddlers. We will try to enjoy as much outside time as we can before very cold winter conditions. We try to get outside at least 30 minutes a day depending on the Weather.
- Remember to bring home toddlers blankets on Friday to help stop the spread of germs. We are officially in germ season!
- Please check toddlers bins to make sure they have the right sized clothes and enough extra outfits.

Happy November, Bella, Jennie & Emmalee!
