November Infant Notes

October was a wonderful but fast month! We have enjoyed so much of the beautiful weather and fall colors. During this month we focused a lot on pumpkins. We sang about them, made some, painted some, and even tried some. It has been so much fun watching the infants come sit down as we start singing for group time and watch their interest grow each day as we talk and learn about pumpkins and fall. The infants also worked hard at creating all kinds of monsters to decorate our door. For some sensory exploration we put our feet in some noodles, which the babies were very unsure about. As we took walks outside we talked about the colors we saw, the sounds we could hear, and felt the cool breeze.

November is here which means many things for everyone. Togetherness, chaos, holidays, and family just to name a few. In the month of November our theme is the forest! Our color for the month will be brown and our sign will be turkey. Our storyboards include songs about 5 little turkeys, owls, foxes and bears. The infants will make owls, skunks, foxes, and squirrels for art. We will also find some pinecones on our walk and paint with them. Shake art will be done with acorns and we are going to try and make some nature jars. If you have any clear containers that you plan to recycle please bring them in for us to use (non-glass). We will continue to see the changes outside as we go on our nature walks.

Color: Brown

Sign: Turkey
