November Preschool Notes

It is hard to believe that October is coming to an end! It was a month filled with fall learning of apples and pumpkins with a break at the end to get a little spooky leading up to Halloween.

As we prepare for November we are looking forward to focusing on our virtue of the month of Thankfulness and celebrating our families! The month will start with the class sharing what they think "Thankful" means. We will then dive deeper into the meaning of Thankfulness using books and songs to guide us.

Preschool has been buzzing with conversations throughout our days, during meal times, interest area time and throughout our transitions around the building. These special moments of being able to hear the children talk naturally about their interests gives us the best insight into what they know. We are then able to lesson plan for the classroom on topics the children are interested in and ensure we are providing developmentally appropriate learning opportunities throughout the year.

Activities

Nov. 2nd Conference Week

Nov. 6th Pajama Day

Nov. 11th Show and Share

(Theme: I'm Thankful For...)

Nov. 20th LANA

Reminders

Please make sure your child has extra clothing in their cubby, at least 2 outfits.

If your child does not have a family picture, please bring one in or email one to the Bloom office.